STORIES OF GRATITUDE.

Those we serve understandably believe our supporters care about their life story, about how they have overcome crisis, life challenges, heartbreak, incessive crying, mental health diagnoses, etc., to victory; with gratitude given to God for their life transformation—and to our donors whose support of SNLM's free counsel services made the difference in their lives.

Compassion in Action. 1John 3:18 reminds us to...not merely say that we love each other, [but to] show the truth by our actions.

So often we see people at a tough point in life where God is about to write a new chapter. Broken lives, hearts, and marriages need compassion, hope, and someone caring to listen—to hear their story; who believe they matter, are worthy, valued, and loved.

How many come into SNLM, having found the courage to seek out help wondering if they have value?—if they still matter? When we begin counseling in broken lives, discussion doesn't begin with rights, choices, nor sin. We're about giving hope to someone who's desperate, who feels unloved, who is frightened, who thinks they are inadequate—incapable—in need of someone caring to hear their story, to walk alongside to say you do matter, you are capable, we care, and we will help.

3 broken hearts experienced healing and a life transformation in Christ.

Guests attending SNLM's 31st Anniversary Dinner commented on the courage shown by our 3 testimonials to get up front and share how God has transformed their lives from the unwanted crippling heartbreak of a broken marriage, to newness of life and victory. Our thanks for taking a step in faith; so encouraging to us.

Jesus saw people differently with his heart of compassion, and helps us to see people differently. In John chapter 4, the Samaritan woman at the well is a prime example of Jesus compassion to a woman with a checkered and messy past. And despite how people of that day saw and treated her broken life, Jesus saw her as a woman with potential, and he enlisted her into service. By implementing his faith in her—she reached people in Samaria, thought of as lesser than, and amazingly won them over to the faith.

LOVE IN ACTION - HEARTS OF COMPASSION.

Those who serve at SNLM strive to share Jesus type of compassion with each one we are privileged to serve. 27,000+ lives/families, 338 births, 209 faith commitments, 129 recommitments, to date, impacted—and all with thanks to our supporters for stepping out in faith with us; together reaching, rescuing, and renewing lives.
